Carl, Jared, &amp; Tishaura,

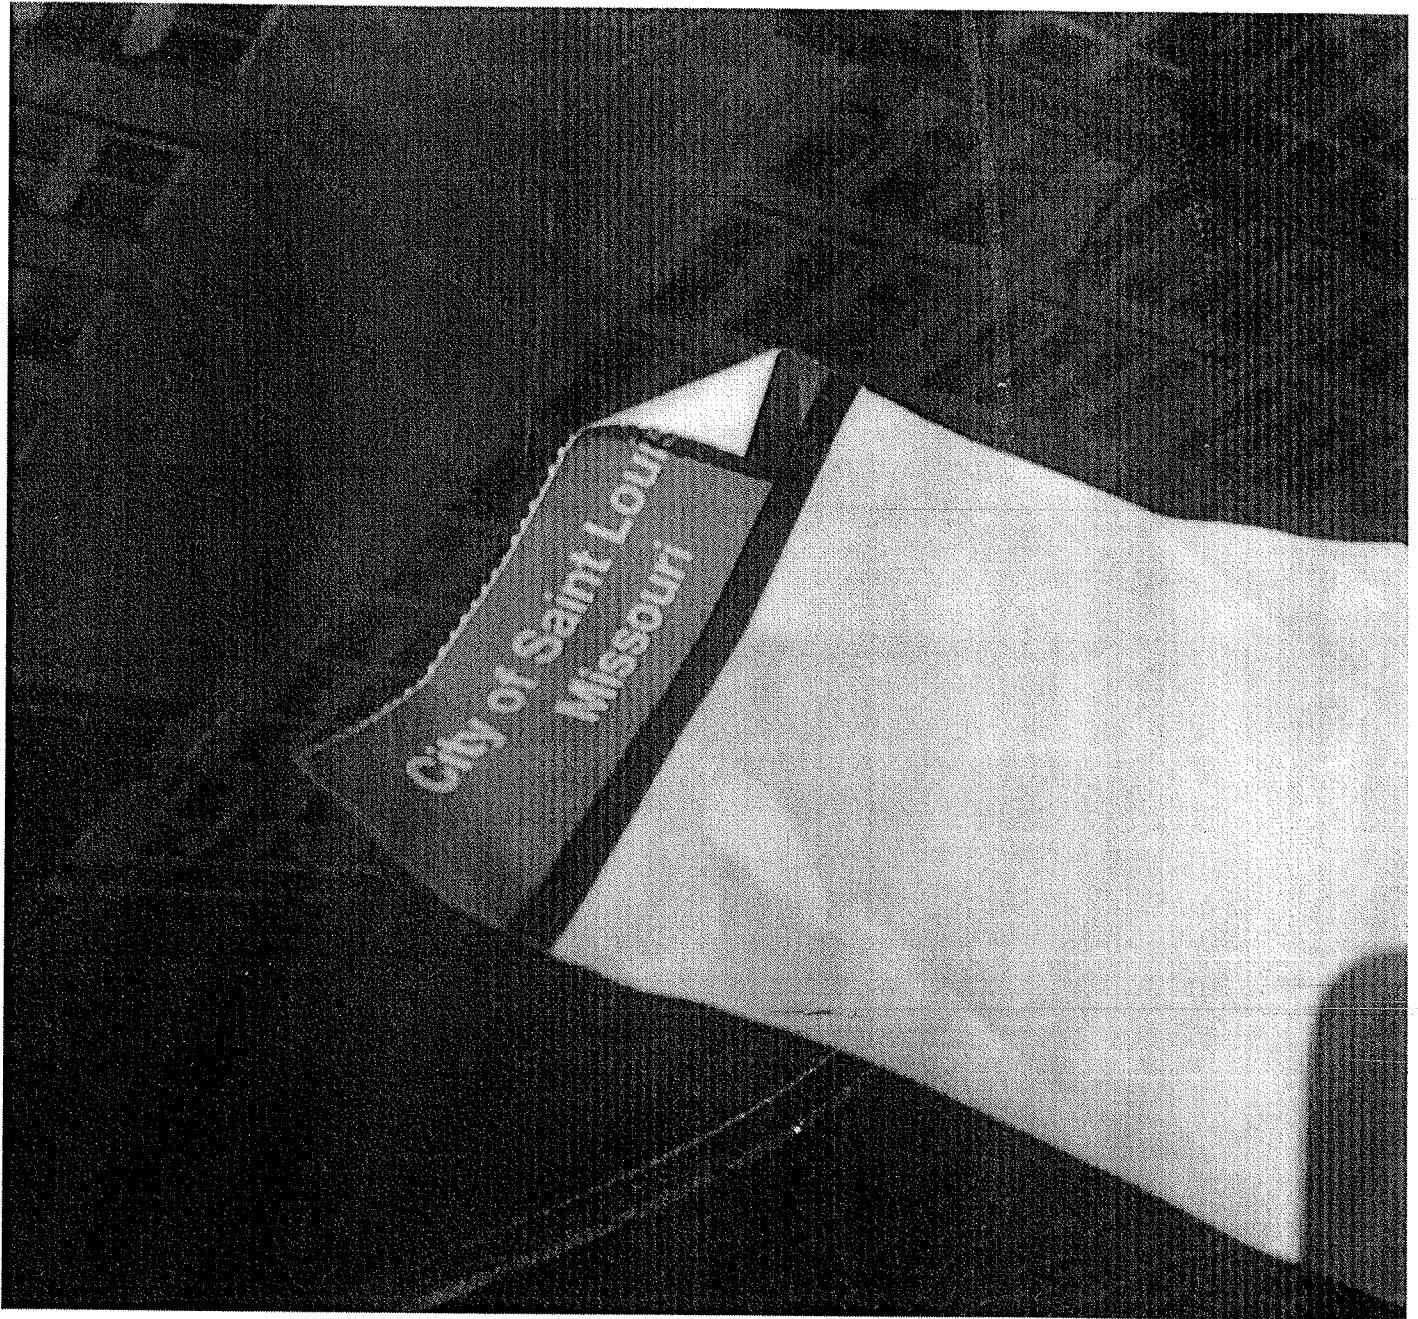

For a few weeks now I've noticed a Ford Flex parking on Locust in the afternoons, plate MG9 G8U, it always has a parking ticket. I began photographing it on August 13th.

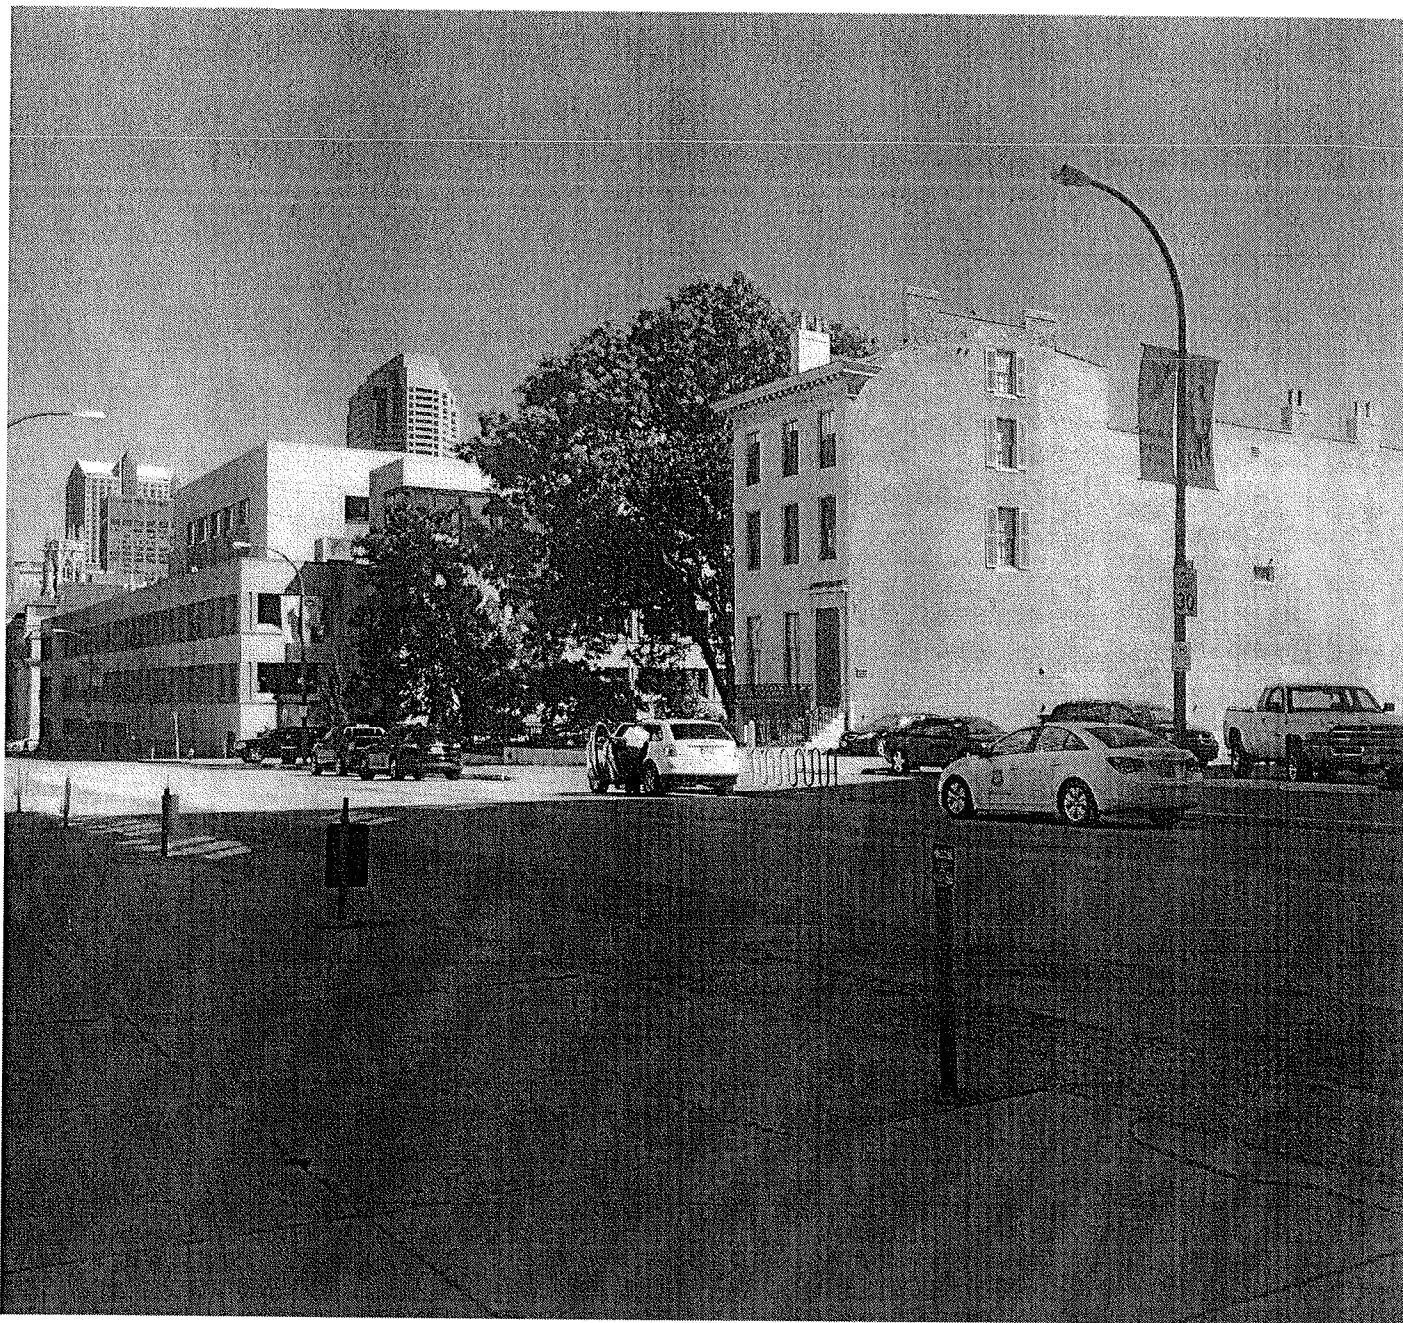

Then one day I saw a parking enforcement vehicle park behind it. My first thought was they'd just issued the ticket. But no, I saw a woman get out of the car, get a blue bag out of the back back door and leave the blue bag on the rear seat.

On Monday I photographed the Ford again -- and lifted the envelope to show the ticket was blank.

At 3:43PM the parking enforcement woman is back doing the same routine. Two minutes later she leaves. Tag 5-343.

Today I return from the grocery store and the Flex isn't there, but I go outside my building 5 minutes later and it's there. I go down and yes it has a ticket. But a big man walks up and starts your own fucking businesses." Etc...

So I called 911 after I got home. Officer Strohmeyer responded. He and his partner talked to PEO supervisor Robert.

Steve

Carl,
 Just following up to see if you've figured out why the Ford Flex was parking daily displaying a fake ticket? And why a PEO was putting a bag in it while on duty?

Today I return from the grocery store and the Flex isn't there, but I go outside my building 5 minutes later and it's there. I go down and yes it has a ticket. But a big man walks up and starts yelling at me, threatening me. "You'd better mind your own fucking businesses." Etc...

So I called 911 after I got home. Officer Strohmeyer responded. He and his partner talked to PEO supervisor Robert.

Here's a link to my post about this: <http://www.urbanreviewstl.com/2015/08/parking-enforcement-officer-kept-putting-a-blue-bag-in-a-vehicle-displaying-a-fake-ticket/>

FYI the vehicle is a Ford Edge, not Flex as I said in prior emails.
